TUESDAY, JULY 3, 1888.

W. A. WILGUS, Editor and Proprietor.
JNO. O. RUST, Associate Editor.
T. E. BARTLEY, Business Manager.

The rallying cry of the Republicans: "Kats."

The Davies county Republicans are going to start a campaign paper.

The county canvass registers 90 degrees in the shade and still "a-hat-in'."

We arise once again to say to our much revered constituency, "Go West" the first Monday in August.

Five weeks from yesterday is the election, five weeks of "double, double, toil and trouble" for the candidates.

The Republican ticket, Harrison and Morton, is a kind of political palindrom, which means nothing and spells dampness both ways.

The election of Capt. C. T. Allen as Chairman of the League of Democratic Clubs in this state, was an honor worthily bestowed.

The Madisonville Times says: "The Ohio Valley road will be extended to Jackson, Tenn., and will miss Hopkinsville about fifteen miles."

A committee of prominent Baptists met in Owensboro Saturday to organize a Ministers Aid Society. This is a wise and charitable move.

Gilmer M. Bell, of Clarksville, is prominently mentioned in connection with the race for the Legislature from Montgomery county.

It is again reported that Ex-Treasurer Tate has written to his family, stating that he hopes soon to tell the world where he is and what he's doing.

It is rumored that the great white Pasha, whose arrival in the Upper Sudan has created such an excitement, is none other than the oft-murdered Stanley.

Sherman thinks Alger caused his defeat, and every time he looks toward Michigan it seems as if an embryo aurora borealis had broken loose in Washington.

Messrs. S. O. Graves and Char. M. Phillips have purchased the Lebanon Standard and Times. Mr. Phillips will occupy the tripod, and Mr. Phillips will run the counting room.

Will S. Hayes has written a Cleveland and Thurman campaign song. It has a strong heroic quality, and will stir the hosts on many a grand occasion during the coming fight.

Charles J. O'Malley is going to contribute a series of papers to the Henderson Journal on "Poets and Poetry of Southwestern Kentucky." These papers will attract general attention.

Since the O. V. essays to be a dirt, we call to mind the expression of an eminent philosopher, who said: "a dirt is like a hydrant dipper—everybody drinks out of it but no one desires to carry it away."

Fred W. Cook, the big Evansville brewer who controls 350 employees, and Chas. A. Park, president of the Mt. Vernon Banking Company, are two of the prominent hoosier Republicans who have dropped over for Cleveland and Thurman.

There is but one disturbing element in the Democratic ranks and that is whether the Cleveland and Thurman hat is a white or snuff color. To settle all differences of opinion, it has been suggested that all parties agree on a broad-brimmed rye-straw with a bandana band.

We innocently last week published a legitimate inference from a paragraph in the Bowling Green Times in reference to a regimental encampment. The Times froths at the mouth in denying the fact of the encampment, and we now wish humbly to withdraw our announcement.

Headly Boyd, late of the Paris, Tenn., Tribune, has taken charge of the Clarksville Chronicle. We welcome Mr. Boyd into this neighborhood, and trust he has with him a more elegant quality of wit than that turned out by his distinguished predecessor.

The National Democratic Executive Committee met in Washington last Tuesday and permanently organized. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, was made permanent chairman; S. P. Sharin, of Indiana, secretary; F. B. Dickinson, of New York, assistant secretary, and C. J. Canada, of New York, treasurer.

The Salvation Army of Windfield, Ky., billed the town with the following intense literature: "Smiling Bell, from Wichita, the girl who jumped out of a two-story window to get salvation, will be at the rink Monday, at 8 o'clock p.m. Cyclones of salvation! Tornadoes of power! Gales of grace! Celestial breezes! Collect at the door to defray expenses."

Paragraphs such as the following from the Princeton Banner have been going the rounds: "The O. V. wood and won Hopkinsville only to jilt the 'old girl' in the most cold-blooded style because she would not put up the cash demanded of her." We wish to add in this connection that it is most ungracious in the old bald-headed O. V. batchelor not to release us formally from the contract under these embarrassing circumstances.

SATURDAY'S PRIMARY.

Next Saturday the Democratic Congressional primary election will be held in this county. The officers of the election were appointed some weeks since and the poll books are now in their possession. Coming at this time there is nothing to bring out a large vote, but our constituents should remember that it is always proper for a Democrat to cast his ballot for a good man.

Capt. W. T. Ellis is the only candidate, he having been given a clear track some time since. He could at considerable less expense have received the endorsement of a convention, but so repugnant were those methods to his sense of fairness that he preferred to cling to the good old Democratic plan of a primary. In consideration of these facts and because of the high character and ability of our next Congressman, the people of Christian county should give him a handsome endorsement next Saturday. Let every man remember his duty and discharge it.

After the candidates were through speaking at Fairview last Monday, Bob Fowler, a colored brother from Hopkinsville, took the stand and related the following incident: "I met a friend the other day and asked him how he felt; he replied that he felt very poorly; had a bad dream the night before. I asked him what kind of a dream it was, and he said: 'I dreamed I died and went to hell.' I thought it a good chance to get a little information, so I asked him if he saw any Republicans there. 'Yes sir; hell was full of them, and every one of them had two negroes between him and the fire.' Fowler went on to say that the court-house ring in Christian County were giving the colored voters similar consideration. —Pembroke Criticism.

The railroad "situation" was exceedingly "situated" Saturday. Col. Ford's meeting on Friday night before was well attended, but there was a noticeable absence of the old stagers. Rumors of all kinds, plans of every description, projects of every hue, are in the air. Some are plausible, some unlikely, some absurd; in fact, we are in the midst of a railroad medley executed by an energetic orchestra of fifty pieces, in which every man's tune locks arms with every other man's tune, and they all dance up and down the gamut, in kaleidoscopic bewilderment jangling chords and discords, while the people sit patiently waiting for something to drop.

The Owensboro Inquirer says: "Those who claim to know say it is a mistake to suppose that Mr. Geo. W. Jolly, of this city, would have a clutch on the revenue collectorship of this district in the event Harrison should happen to be elected, by reason of having been an original Harrison man. John Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, is a kinsman—some sort of cousin—of Ben Harrison, and is more over a brilliant and able man. His chances for the choice plums would, his friends say, be better than those of anybody in the district." This, of course is pleasant speculation, for as things now appear Hunter Wood and Grover will continue to hold the fort four years longer.

At a regular meeting of Forbes Bivouac, after the regular business was over, a resolution was offered and passed to erect a monument to the memory of the Confederate dead in Clarksville to cost not less than $5,000; and a committee was appointed to push the object through. The same committee was instructed to look after the Confederate dead now sleeping in the vicinity of Fort Donelson. These matters are to be pushed with vim, and it is thought that within a year the heroes of Donelson will have a neat cemetery properly arranged and which in years to come will be an honor to the lost cause.

A Republican member of the National Committee voices sound truths when, in speaking to a correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, he said: "The ticket is an outrage on the Republican people of the country. How can we face the people of the West and ask them to vote for an Indiana railroad attorney and a Wall Street money shark? We can't do it, and I am afraid that we are whipped before the fight is begun. The Blaine people had the convention in their grip, and when they could not clear the field for their own man they administered to the party a dose of poison."

The German Republicans are kicking about the Republican temperance plank. As for that matter it was a mere catch gag, and a convention of convicts, saloon-keepers, preachers or anybody else could have adopted it with equal consistency. It is simply a broad-side swipe at the moral universe and means everything or nothing. It is a shame that any party should approach such a question in so equivocal a way, and public sentiment should force the parties to dance up to these great issues with honest, specific utterances.

Hon. Henry Powell with commendable magnanimity urges the Democrats of this district to give Bill Ellis a big vote next Saturday. Mr. Powell's unselfish devotion to the cause is worthy of emulation, and when all our politicians attain to his patriotism, strifes and bickerings will be no more.

Readers, look on the margin of your paper and you will be informed as to when your subscription expires. Hereafter, as before, unless otherwise ordered, your paper will be discontinued when time is out.

An Indian Fight—Candidates Candidating.

CHOTTON, Ky., June 30.—A tramp stopped here several days last week by the name of A. M. Wilson. His hair was long, dangling about his shoulders. He claims to be a half-breed Indian. He lectured to a small audience Friday night at the church and presented one of the M. D.'s with a weed which he said was an infallible remedy for snake bite. He took fifteen grains of sulph. morphia at a dose several times while here. The first druggist that stood by and saw him take it thought it might be with suicidal intent but it was soon learned that he was accustomed to taking that amount. Saturday morning he undertook to eat at the table of the hotel with the guests and was refused admittance by the clerk when he began cursing. Tom Stewart stepped in and struck at him with a heavy club but missed his aim, but the Indian took the will for the deed and immediately left town.

The candidates addressed about two hundred voters at Bowling's hall here yesterday. The speeches by the candidates for sheriff surpassed the most sanguine expectations of their warmest friends. Quite a number came down from your city.

Miss Nannie Prouse and Miss Mollie Clark, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Madisonville and Greenville, returned home yesterday.

Miss Lizzie Bullard returned to your city to-day.

The picnic on the 4th, promises to be the biggest one ever given here.

Prof. A. G. Becham returned home to-day from an extended trip through the lower counties in the interest of his school this fall.

Buck.

Where Is She?

Mr. M. B. McIner, a railroad man of this city, has received a letter from Clarksville, Tenn., giving an account of the mysterious disappearance of a young lady of that place, and inquiring if anything had been seen of her in this city. The young lady's name is Minnie Thompson, a daughter of a well-to-do carpenter of that city, who is described as being a very pretty girl of about 20 years of age, with light hair, tall and slender, and weighing about 115 pounds. She is spoken of as being a very respectable young lady of excellent character, and her disappearance is considered a great mystery, as she has been absent now ever since last Friday. The letter was received by Mr. M. B. McIner from one Miss Ella Sanford. The letter did not assign any cause for the absence of the missing one. From the tone of the epistle there does not seem to be any excitement about it at Clarksville but rather that the disappearance is only known to a few persons, and has been kept rather quiet on account of the respectability and good character of Miss Thompson, and they desire to have her restored to her relatives and friends without creating any sensation in regard to her disappearance. This article is written purely in the interest of all concerned, in hope that anyone aware of her whereabouts they may be able to communicate with her friends and relieve their anxiety.—Bowling Green Times Friday.

MACEDONIA, KY.

MACEDONIA, Ky., June 27.—Our farmers are getting behind with their work since the late rains.

While plowing one day last week Mr. J. M. Hammond was kicked by a plow, inflicting a very painful wound.

Mr. Frank Thomas and Mrs. Ben Thomas were married at the residence of Mr. Gabe Vicary in Caldwell county last Sunday.

Mrs. Millie Orton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Howell, at Dawson, where she will probably remain some two or three weeks.

Wash Perkins, who indulged in a shooting affray at Dawson with Eaq. Jas. Alexander some three weeks ago, made his escape on Sunday night. He and Alexander were to be tried Monday but as Perkins was considered in a very critical condition no bond was required for his appearance. Sunday reports were rife to the effect that gangrene had made its appearance, but when he was called for Monday morning it was ascertained that he had fled the country. It is believed that he was driven off in a buggy, as a certain liverly-man was called for late Sunday night and could not be had until Monday about 11 o'clock when he stepped into the court room. Alexander's trial was called Monday. The attorneys were arguing the case when our informant left at 1 o'clock p. m. It has been rumored that the trial resulted in a hung jury.

HOYT AND READY.

The Usual Obstruction to Its Growth.

There is a large pond in Main St. that prevents the extension of that thoroughfare, causing travel to go around it on either side.—Clarksville Democrat.

Opening Ball at Dawson.

The Arcadia Company will give their opening ball at Dawson on Friday evening next, July 6th. Excellent music has been secured for this occasion and will remain throughout the season. A large number of guests are already at these popular springs, and the ball next Friday promises to eclipse all previous ones.

Handsome Remembrance.

Saturday afternoon road master Harry Frazier delivered to boss James Newley, of the Greenbrier section, a handsome certificate for having the best average section between Nashville and Evansville; also he presented Jerry Barnes, of the Casky section, a certificate for the most improvement. Nuncley made, for the year just closed, an average of 9.38 out of a possible 10, while Barnes brought his section up from 5 to 9, four points. The certificates were handsomely framed in carved oak and antique silver and were given after a thorough inspection, by high officials. In this connection we will say that Mr. Frazier not only has the best division in the system, but he is "up in the pictures" in a prime favorite.

A big crowd assembled in the court house yesterday afternoon to hear the candidates speak. Gordon Hanbery led off, and after dressing off Mose West, he shelled the clique at every weak point. He was heartily cheered and proved himself a skillful campaigner. Mose West followed presenting his claims in a straight-forward, business like way, and Wiley closed the Sheriff's discussion with the usual election speech. McPherson and Brechtitt then held the platform, being more elaborate in their remarks. Judge McPherson enlisted the enthusiasm of the audience and held it till the last. The battle is now formally opened and it will be hot till the first Monday in August.

The east bound N. & M. Col. Foard's Project.

A number of citizens met Col. Foard at the Commercial Club rooms to hear him talk his railroad scheme, Friday night. The meeting was organized by electing E. P. Campbell Chairman, and H. H. Abernathy and Homer Prince Secretaries. Col. Foard stated substantially what has already been given to the public. He wants to build a line from Hopkinsville to the Tennessee river, ultimately to be extended east and west, and asks $200,000 of Christian and $100,000 of Trigg county to put into the enterprise. This money is to be used in the actual work of construction and to be paid to Col. Foard on the order of a board of commissioners appointed by the counties as the work progresses, that is, when a given amount of road has been built our people are to pay that much, and so on to completion.

A citizens committee, consisting of E. H. Hoyer, E. B. Bassett and E. G. Callis, was appointed to look into this and other railroad projects and also to try and get a formal release from the O. V. contract, so that we may be unfettered in our negotiations. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of this committee.

We do not wish to pronounce judgment on any of the plans being thrust at our people, but we do not hesitate to say that Col. Foard's scheme is not as desirable as others we have seen. There is one good sign about this meeting, however, it was a "citizens meeting." In all these matters the people should be a unit. There is danger of parties interested in these various enterprises creating (unintentionally perhaps) factions to carry out their views. We know our people are willing to do the proper thing for a road, and we should guard against the clashing of whims on the part of champions of contending schemes. Let us take one at a time, sift it to the bottom, and if it won't do, let's write NO GOOD on it in big letters.

Martin, of Nashville, have bought the book and speak of it in terms of the highest praise. Examine the book while you have the opportunity. Developed A Detective.

Friday morning Ches Haynes, a small colored boy, was asked to carry a bundle to Mr. Thos. W. Long's residence. Finding no one in the lower rooms he pocketed a pair of cameo earrings and walked off. A few minutes later he stepped into Bryans to make a purchase, and Mr. Duncan Galbreath saw the jewelry in his pocket book. He got the earrings from the boy on the pretext of purchasing them and then made a grab for the fellow, but Haynes took in the situation and skipped. In the afternoon Mr. Galbreath had himself properly deputized and started out to do the detective act. After skirmishing around awhile he caught Haynes and had him lodged in jail to await circuit court on the charge of grand larceny. Citizens should be on the look out for such precocious youngsters.

Tried to Poison Him.

Lizzie Wills, col. the cook for Maj. John W. Brechtitt's family, was arrested, Saturday morning, charged with attempting to poison Charles Daniel, a colored boy employed by Major Brechtitt. It seems that he had a difficulty previous to last Friday and she had expressed her enmity for him. That day she gave Weber Brechtitt a biscuit for himself and one for Daniel. Daniel's was full of crushed glass, which he discovered before swallowing. The Wills woman was placed under a bond of $100 to appear before Judge Brashear Thursday.

An old fashioned knock down and drag out between two well-known citizens entertained the Beverly folks Saturday.

BEAUTY OF FORM IN OUTLINE OF DRESS AND HOW TO OBTAIN IT.

Something for Dress-Makers to Study and Customers to Understand.

That there is such a thing as beauty of lines and perfection in proportion in dress, but few people realize until they have given the subject a little thought. We are making great progress in all the arts and sciences and our knowledge upon nearly every subject is constantly increasing, but we find that dress making as an art is sadly defective at that those who are having their dresses made and paying big prices are bitterly complaining of the result they often get. It is a great vexation to buy fine material and have it impossible to produce regard to correct principles or without an eye to the beautiful.

That dress makers are improving in their methods there is no doubt, but that the masses of the people are gaining more in ideas and a knowledge of what is proper to wear and how to wear it is also true.

No one factor has had so much to do with this agitation and uprising in public sentiment as Mrs. N. A. Donaldson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and her dressmaking school. Our home dressmakers should learn if they have not already learned, and do the best work that it is possible to do and then our wealthy citizens should patronize them.

That dressmakers in the south are not up to the standard it should be or that it is in some other parts of the country will not be denied, but now that the feeling has been aroused upon this subject, let home dressmakers learn to do this best work and let the citizens give them a proper patronage and encouragement after they have learned.
